The budgets estimate community-specific costs for 10 family types (one or two adults with zero to four children) in all counties and metro areas in the United States. Compared with the federal poverty line and the Supplemental Poverty Measure, EPI’s family budgets provide a more accurate and complete measure of economic security in America.” Budgets are in 2017 dollars. <https://www.epi.org/resources/budget/>

The Household Survival Budget is “an estimate of the total cost of household essentials – housing, child care, food, transportation, technology, and health care, plus taxes and a 10 percent contingency. It is calculated separately for each county, and for six different household types. [...] The ALICE Threshold represents the minimum income level necessary based on the Household Survival Budget. Households below the Threshold include both ALICE households and those living in poverty.” Estimates based on American Community Survey 1 year data (2016) for counties with populations over 65,000, and 5-year averages (2012-2016) for all other counties.

<sup>43</sup> Program Access Index (PAI) calculated by Utahns Against Hunger (UAH) by dividing the 12-month average number of SNAP recipients by the population living below 125% of federal poverty level in a county for calendar year 2017. SNAP data from the Utah Department of Workforce Services. Poverty data from the U.S. Census Bureau, 2017 American Community Survey (ACS) 1-Year Estimates for more populated counties, and 2013-2017 ACS 5-Year Estimates for less populated counties. Notes: According to the USDA Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), “the PAI is designed to indicate the degree to which low-income people have access to SNAP benefits.” The PAI is not technically a measure of SNAP participation (participants versus eligibles) because the SNAP eligibility level is 130% of poverty, not 125%.

and because the index does not account for any of the other factors impacting an individual's eligibility for SNAP. Also, when calculating the PAI the FNS typically subtracts participants in the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR) from the number below 125% poverty because the former would qualify for SNAP but have opted to participate in the FDPIR instead. In federal fiscal year 2017 there were 384 FDPIR participants in Utah. UAH did not subtract these participants from our county poverty estimates because we were unable to determine the counties in which they lived. More information on the PAI can be found at:

<sup>55</sup> Utah State Board of Education (USBE) Child Nutrition Department, 2019. Notes: All National School Lunch Program (NSLP) data for school year 2017-2018 for all schools/sites sponsored by the public school districts. The number of participating schools/sites in each public school district includes predominantly regular public schools, but also public or private/non-profit charters, Head Start sites, camps, and Residential Child Care Institutions that were sponsored by the public school districts and participated in the NSLP. Percentages of students eligible for free or reduced price lunch come from the 2018 October Survey which gives enrollment and free/reduced meal percentages for each school as of October 31 (revised February 2019). All other data was obtained from USBE's Child Nutrition Department on January 9th, 2019. Average daily participation (ADP) numbers for the NSLP were calculated by Utahns Against Hunger for each school/site in a school district and combined to arrive at district totals.

<sup>56</sup> Utah State Board of Education (USBE) Child Nutrition Department, 2019. Notes: All School Breakfast Program (SBP) data for school year 2017-2018 for all of the same schools/sites included in the NSLP table that were sponsored by the public school districts. The number of participating schools/sites in each public school district includes predominantly regular public schools, but also some public or private/non-profit charters, Head Start sites, camps, and Residential Child Care Institutions that were sponsored by the public school districts and participated in the NSLP. Average daily participation (ADP) numbers were calculated by Utahns Against Hunger (UAH) for each school in a school district and combined to arrive at district totals. UAH divided the ADPs for SBP by the ADPs for NSLP, and multiplied by 100, to arrive at the number of free/reduced price students participating in SBP per 100 participating in NSLP during the 2017-18 school year. UAH subtracted SBP ADP from NSLP ADP to arrive at the number of students participating in NSLP but not SBP.

<sup>57</sup> Utah State Board of Education (USBE) Child Nutrition Department, 2019. Notes: Summer Nutrition Program data includes all Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) and Seamless Summer Option (SSO) locations active in Summer 2018. Average daily participation (ADP) numbers were calculated by Utahns Against Hunger (UAH) for each site and combined to arrive at county totals. The ADP numbers are based on the 'Max Claim ADP' for the month of July, used by the USBE to compare summer sites. Most SFSP and SSO sites offer multiple meals in a given day and do not keep enrollment records. Any student may eat one or more meals/snacks on a given day. The 'Max Claim ADP' provides a way to track the number of students participating at the site each month. The ADP values provided are for the meal or snack with the highest ADP in the month of July, excluding second meals. UAH divided the ADPs for Summer Nutrition Programs by the ADPs for the NSLP, and multiplied by 100, to arrive at the number of free/reduced price students participating in Summer Nutrition per 100 participating in NSLP during the 2017-18 school year.
